The Uptown Regional Bike Corridors Project will create connections for people between the San Diego neighborhoods of Old Town, Mission Valley, Downtown, North Park, University Heights, and Balboa Park. The project will design bikeways that are safe and comfortable for everyday people to make everyday trips by bike to local destinations, including schools, parks, transit, and commercial centers. The bikeways will feature design elements that make it comfortable and fun to ride, keep streets safe for all users, and improve neighborhood vitality and support economic development. Please plan on attending and continuing to participate in the next phase of the project.
